

Array

- Constant time access to any element, given an index
 $a[k]$  is accessed in  $O(1)$  time, no matter how large the array grows
- Cache-optimized
Many modern systems cache or pre-fetch nearby memory values due the “Principle of Locality”. Therefore, arrays often perform faster than lists in identical operations.